

Adding StreamOnce to Jive transforms how your HR team shares and generates data. By connecting the company's email to Jive, you're igniting your team's ability to collaborate. No longer will valuable pieces of information be locked away in various systems.

StreamOnce integrates all data and communications into your HR team's collaborative space within Jive.

Constantly Connected.

Even if half your HR team communicates by email, and the other half uses LinkedIn to create data, StreamOnce integrates everything into your team's Jive account. No matter which system you're using, the data shows up where your HR team can respond to it.

Searchable.

No more searching through multiple email systems to track down and compare CV's. StreamOnce transforms Jive into a searchable and organized database. The most recent files, the most promising candidates- all where they should be.

Incorporate Partners and Vendors.

StreamOnce lets your HR team incorporate selected partners and vendors into your Jive account. The emails that your partners and customers send will show up within your team's social space.

What happens when you connect email to Jive?

For this HR team, it meant overcoming internal bureaucracy to land a powerful candidate.

The screenshot shows a Jive page titled "jive for Self-Signup streamonce.com" with a navigation bar (Home, Content, People, Places, Apps, Create) and a "Hiring Leads" group overview. A "NOW HIRING" sign is visible. The "RECENT ACTIVITY" section shows an email titled "[Email] Amazing candidate - we need to move fast!" from kenny.tucker@streamonce.com, dated Feb 13, 2013. The email content is visible in a comment thread, including the text: "Guys, The ultimate candidate for your position! Act fast. You snooze, you lose!! Talk to me! Ken the recruiter". Other comments from Simon Davis and Katherina Smith are also shown. Handwritten annotations explain the workflow: 1. Ken emails a distribution list about a great candidate. 2. The email shows up in Jive. 3. Simon decides not to interview the candidate. He's perfect, but there's no open position. 4. Katherina announces that she'll adjust the headcount policy. Her intervention lets the company secure a highly valuable candidate.

3. Simon decides not to interview the candidate. He's perfect, but there's no open position.

4. Katherina announces that she'll adjust the headcount policy. Her intervention lets the company secure a highly valuable candidate.

1. Ken emails a distribution list about a great candidate.

2. The email shows up in Jive.